Forja Space

Forja of Sevilla is a space where centuries of history converge with modern versatility, making it ideal for commercial and cultural events. This former industrial complex, founded in the 16th century under the reign of Philip II, was a strategic cornerstone in the production of weaponry for the Spanish monarchy and played a crucial role in European military history. Today, it has been restored and adapted to retain its historical essence while offering state-of-the-art facilities.

Situated in the San Bernardo neighborhood, at the heart of Seville, it boasts excellent connectivity to other key parts of the city. Its size and design allow for flexible configurations to meet a wide range of needs, from corporate meetings to immersive experiences, all within an environment that transports attendees to the grandeur of imperial Spain's industrial era.

STANDS

The complex spans approximately 22,000 m<sup>2</sup>, with 9,500 m<sup>2</sup> dedicated to multifunctional spaces such as the Main Hall, offices, coworking areas, and exhibition zones. The Main Hall, featuring open-plan architecture and high ceilings, is perfect for large-scale events such as product launches, trade fairs, exhibitions, or cultural performances. Equipped with cutting-edge infrastructure, it ensures the seamless execution of any type of event while preserving the historical charm of its original design.

Choosing Forja of Sevilla means opting for a venue that enriches every event with a unique atmosphere, blending history, authenticity, and modernity in an unparalleled setting.
